THE FIRE & THE FURY:

The combination of flammable materials used in woodworking and a steady wind likely contributed to the speed with which fire ravaged Tischler Woodworking on South Lake Road. Here, Minden firefighters do what they can to control the damage.

Fire destroys busy woodworking shop

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

It was as fast as it was devastating.

The fire which totally destroyed the Tischler Woodworking shop on South Lake Road on Saturday had no mercy, spreading quickly throughout the large building and giving local firefighters few opportunities to control it before all that was left was the smoldering foundation.

What makes the fire even worse was the promise which had been contained within the building.

Tischler Woodworking had recently won a large contract to do all the indoor cabinetry and woodworking for the hospital projects, establishing the reputation of owner Andy Schollig in the community and offering employment to seven others.

New materials had just arrived and Schollig had recently purchased a large tractor trailer in which to put the finished products to be stored until the hospitals were ready. That trailer also burned.

Minden Fire Chief Bill Hogg says it was likely a combination of some flammable contents in the building - lacquer, paint thinner, varsol - and the steady wind which caused the fire to spread so quickly.

"I was surprised how quickly it went," he said Sunday afternoon. "It just went through everything."

Like other members of the community, Hogg was saddened by the destruction. "It's such a shock to everyone," he says. "Andy always was a dedicated person. It's a hard thing for a community this size."

Luckily, the building was insured, Hogg says.

As well as a reputation for craftsmanship, Schollig was known for his attention to safety and cleanliness. The shop's yard was always kept neat,

Victoria Street School prepares for move

PETER DOWNS

Staff Reporter

Students and staff will vacate Haliburton's Victoria Street School next month, but a piece of the aging building will live on in the new primary school built to replace it.

The original bell from the 75-year-old school rests on a time capsule in the foyer of Stuart Baker School, ready to ring in students on their first day of classes in the new building April 12.

Shortly after classes end on the final day at VSS, Friday, April 9, movers will begin shipping all of the school's furnishings, equipment and supplies across town to the new school.

The school board had hoped to make the move over the March break to give staff more time to set up their classrooms, but construction of the $2.3-million school was slightly delayed.

Principal Debbie Wales said school staff have already begun preparing for the move to make it go smoothly in the tighter

Haliburton sends cheering section to the Brier

HIGHLANDERS who watched the Brier curling championship on television were probably cheering on Paul Madden, a former Highlander who was playing on Rich Moffatt's Ontario team. (The team, unfortunately didn't make it into the playoffs.) Sharp-eyed viewers, however, would have picked out another Highlands resident—Lake Kashagawigamog's Jack Cox. Apparently Mr. Cox attends all the Brier finals, bringing along his Ontario flag as he and his wife Willie cheer on the home-province team. He's become quite an institution among the players, and also the media, and was seen on some of the television coverage.

The Crowe family has made quite a name for itself in Haliburton County — and now throughout the province, thanks to an in-depth look at their business in the March 8 edition of the Toronto Star. Kawartha Dairy is based in Bobcaygeon but also has an outlet in Minden, where stopping for ice cream has become a beloved tradition for countless cottagers. The dairy, which picks up "the crumbs" of much larger dairies is owned by the Crowe family and all told, employs 18 of the family members, plus 40 others. Every year, Kawartha Dairy produces eight million litres of milk and 1.3 million litres of ice cream. The story provides a fascinating look at a small business that's "thinking big."

Minden and Stanhope continue using Dombind as dust suppressant

PETER DOWNS
Staff Reporter

Two area municipalities have decided to spray Dombind on their roads this summer, despite Environment Ministry concerns about dioxin in the gooey, black paper mill waste.

Councils in Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden voted last week to continue using the dust suppressant for at least one more season before it's banned.

For the past 40 years Trenton-based Norampac Inc. has been providing so-called "black liquor" free of charge to any municipality willing to pay the cost of picking it up.

But in December the Environment Ministry ordered the company to find another way to get rid of the waste and completely phase out its distribution in two years.

Under a five-year letter of agreement to distribute Dombind, the company had been called on to eliminate dioxin — a suspected cancer-causing agent — contained in the waste. But Ministry tests showed dioxin levels had climbed tenfold from 1993 to 1996 in some areas of the province.

While the Ministry says Dombind doesn't pose a threat to the environment in the short-term, it's concerned about long-term use of the material.

"Is the situation serious? The answer now is no," Ministry spokesman John Steele told The Echo in December. "Could it be serious in 20 years? The answer is yes. The build-up of dioxin is something that has serious implications for the environment."

The municipalities which use Dombind locally — Minden, Stanhope, Dysart, Sherborne, Monmouth and Glamorgan — have up to two years to switch to a different dust suppressant.

Monmouth has already decided not to use Dombind and is considering trying to control dust on its gravel roads by spraying them with water.

In Minden, roads superintendent Clayton Cameron told councillors Thursday that water isn't an effective dust suppressant.

"It segregates the fine dust particles and actually makes the problem worse," he said.

Using water as an alternative to Dombind would also carry a price, Cameron warned.

The municipality would have to buy water trucks because the tanks it uses to spray Dombind on its roads are supplied by Norampac.

Minden reeve Jeanne Anthon noted council has asked the Ministry to release its study findings on Dombind to help it make a more informed decision about using the product, but the Ministry hasn't done so.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey said council will make a decision on the issue next month after the municipality's roads committee has discussed it.

However, Fearrey said it's likely the municipality will consider making the switch to using calcium chloride in combination with water.

Not only is calcium chloride much more expensive for municipalities to use, some have argued it has an even greater environmental impact than Dombind.

SPRING IS HERE!

... and so is the maple syrup! Wintergreen Maple Syrup and Pancake Barn got a jump on the season this past weekend and the dozens of people who travelled to Gelter to enjoy the fare were quick to join in. At left, Kate Dawson and Andrea Hughes prepare lunch for this group from Sunnyrock Bed and Breakfast, above. Although the sap has started to run, it's still a bit slow, but the Dawson family says that if the nights stay cool and the days warm, their buckets will soon be filled and a new season of boiling down will begin.

Brother and sister injured in Miners Bay accident should soon be released from Hospital for Sick Kids

MARTHA PERKINS
Editor

The two young children injured in a car accident in Miners Bay on March 8 are still in hospital but are expected to be released soon.

Eight-year-old Kyle Resnick and his five-year-old sister Lauren sustained multiple injuries in the accident, which occurred at 6:30 in the morning on a sharp curve on Hwy. 35.

The Minden OPP say the children's mother, Beatrix Campioni, a Canadian citizen who's working in Australia, was driving southbound in the northbound lane. Her car collided head-on in the northbound lane with an OPP vehicle driven by a civilian employee, Karen Fell of Huntsville.

Both Campioni and Fell were taken to Minden Hospital but released that day. The children were airlifted to Hospital for Sick Children with critical injuries.

Campioni had been in Minden visiting with her parents. Her father, Emile Campioni, is a doctor with the Minden Lions Medical Clinic.

Two snowmobilers sustain injuries

No sooner had the Dysart fire department helped one injured snowmobiler at Haliburton Forest on Saturday than they were called back to help a second one.

Four firefighters responded to the first call at 10:40 Saturday morning to help with a woman injured on the trails 12 kilometres from the base camp. The fire department has a rescue sleigh and snowmobile, donated by Haliburton Forest, to help with such remote accidents.

After delivering their patient to the waiting ambulance, the firefighters were heading back to Haliburton when the second call came in at 1:20. This time, a man was injured on the trails six kilometres from the base camp.

Neither snowmobiler had life-threatening injuries.

Big move from Victoria Street School will enlist help of volunteers

time-frame.

"We've got a lot of volunteers and we're going to plan as much as we can," she said. "We'll also have supply teachers to spell off staff on the Friday and Monday."

After years of debate, trustees with the former Haliburton County Board of Education decided it would be cheaper to build a brand new school than to upgrade and expand VSS.

Construction on the new school, located on the grounds surrounding J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School, began last spring. Workers have only the final touches to complete.

The school board officially takes possession of the school on April 1.

Wales said she's looking forward to moving into the brand new facility. "I can hardly wait. It's fabulous."

For the remainder of the school year, only the Junior Kindergarten to Grade 2 students who move into it from VSS will be taught at the school. But they'll be joined by Grade 3 students, starting next September.

The former Haliburton school board had intended to sell its building and property on Victoria Street and put the proceeds towards construction costs for the new school.

Since the provincial government took over the full cost of education last year, regulations governing the disposal of school buildings have changed, said Jim Bradley, the board's assistant superintendent of business administration.

"We're a little in limbo on that one."

The board is working with the Ministry to determine how to dispose of the property, Bradley said.

The province previously agreed to pay $425,000 toward the cost of building the new school.

No date has been set yet for an official opening ceremony for Stuart Baker School.

ALMOST READY:

The new Stuart Baker Primary School, next door to JDHES in Haliburton, is almost ready to welcome the students from Victoria Street School. (Next year, Grade 3 students will also make their home here.) Last week, Principal Debbie Wales, right, took teachers Jim Hopkins and Laraine Forgrave on a tour of the new school, which was named in honour of one of Haliburton County's former directors of education. At right is the bell from Victoria Street School, which will have a place of honour in the new school's foyer.

Councillors give themselves pay raise of $1,000

Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at Anson, Hindon and Minden council's meeting on Thursday.

Councillors have granted themselves raises of roughly 10 per cent for both this year and next.

Under the new pay schedule, all five members of council will get a $1,000 increase each year.

The municipality's reeve, Jeanne Anthon, will receive $11,000 this year and $12,000 in 2000, up from the $10,000 she was paid last year.

Deputy-reeve Jerry Rome will see the $9,000 he was paid by the municipality last year bumped up to $10,000 this year and $11,000 in 2000.

The three councillors — Daryl Moore, Sinc Nesbitt and Grant Plooard — will each receive $9,200 this year and $10,200 in 2000, up from the $8,200 they were paid last year.

Pay rates for members of council include an allowance for travelling and miscellaneous expenses.

Councillors adopted the bylaw bringing in the increases Thursday without discussion.

Good news on dumps

The municipality received good marks on its dumps from the Ministry of Environment which conducted spot checks at the sites last fall, said roads department superintendent Clayton Cameron.

The Ministry identified some issues that need to be addressed, but was pleased with the operations, he told council.

"Basically, we got a real good report on our landfills. That was an encouraging little note."

"You always hear the negatives. It's good to hear the positives," said deputy-reeve Rome.

More positives

Rome pointed out to councillors that the municipality no longer has any outstanding debts.

After council approved a final payment on the township's sewer system, Rome said, "I'm quite happy to say this municipality has no debt."

Main street Haliburton vendor fees increased to $400

PETER DOWNS

Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at last Monday's meeting of Dysart et al council.

In response to a controversy cooked up last summer over hot dogs, Dysart council has nearly tripled the cost of buying a vending permit for Haliburton's main street.

Last summer Haliburton restaurant owner Walt McKechnie called on council to increase licensing fees for food vendors who compete with permanent businesses.

He complained that while permanent businesses pay taxes to the municipality that help support its infrastructure, street vendors pay only a minimal licensing fee.

McKechnie's criticism came after council granted a vending permit to a hot dog cart operator, Steve Dunec, who set up shop just down the street from McKeck's Restaurant.

Dunec had negotiated a rental agreement with a landowner to place his hot dog cart in the square out front of the Village Barn.

On Monday councillors bumped up the licensing fee for both hot dog and ice cream cart operators within the village to $400 per year from $150.

DYSART ET AL COUNCIL BRIEFS

At the same time, they lowered the charge for running one of the carts outside the village to $100 in an attempt to lure them away from Haliburton's main street.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said the increase is "fairer" to permanent business owners who pay taxes to the municipality.

Ward 2 councillor Al Ferguson was the only councillor to speak out against the increase, calling it "a bit much."

Dumping fees

People without valid dump cards will be charged $2 for each bag of garbage they throw out at the municipality's landfill sites, council decided.

Each property owner in the municipality is provided two dump cards. But landowners who rent out their homes or cottages to vacationers have complained the card system makes it difficult for their tenants to use the dumps.

Fearrey said the new dump user fee should eliminate any problems for those renting out their properties.

Councillors also brought in a new $3 charge for each piece of furniture people throw out at Haliburton's landfill site.

Russian satellites

The Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association requested council's support in its efforts to convince the province to reverse its ban on the spring bear hunt.

But there's little more the municipality can do to help change the decision, said deputy-reeve Bill Davis.

"You can do whatever you want. You've got more chance of being hit by a Russian satellite than changing anything."

The municipality has already passed a resolution asking the province to bring back the hunt.

Plant tours

Councillors approved a proposal for guided plant tours to be held in Glebe Park this spring and summer.

Haliburton resident Emma Thurley, co-author of a field guide on Central Ontario plants, plans to offer the walking tours in conjunction with the Haliburton Highlands Museum.

Not only will the series educate the public about area plant species, but also it will benefit the museum financially.

A percentage of the fee participants pay goes to the museum.

Trail support

Council supports the Trails and Tours Network incorporating Dysart's trails into its plan to create a four-county trail network with Peterborough, Victoria and Northumberland.

Snowmobile Safety Winners:

Good things in small businesses

THE BUSINESS MANTRA of the 1990s has been "bigger is better." Bigger banks, bigger stores, bigger school boards, bigger, bigger, bigger. If you remain small, it obviously means you can't make it in the "big" world. Small means inefficient, unprofessional, unable to compete. Right?

Well...

Last week in its Thinking Big column, the Toronto Star profiled Kawartha Dairy, which is based in Bobcaygeon with an outlet in Minden, employing 60 people, including 18 members of the Crowe family, which owns the business. "In the scheme of big dairies, our business is little, real little," says company president Jeff Crowe. The business succeeds by picking up the kinds of accounts the big dairies don't think it's worth bothering about. It is also small enough to pay personal attention to the customers' needs. Can you imagine an owner of Beatrice delivering an extra order of milk to a corner store that's run out of milk on a holiday weekend?

The 60 people who have jobs with the company, and the stores which are served by it don't really care about the bigger is better theory. They also probably prefer to be part of a smaller operation. There's more direct contact with the people who make the decisions, and those people have a much better idea of who each department works. People are generally happy, which, after all, should be one of the main goals of life.

As another example of how small can be successful, a couple of weeks ago The Echo had a story about Spectra Environmental, a company based in Haliburton that does business across Ontario, with possibilities existing in the North American market. Customers who phone Spectra think they are calling an office in Stouffville, a fact which somehow reassures them. The company's product, the Envirodike, is made at the Stouffville address, yet thanks to modern technology, the calls are forwarded to a small three-person office in Haliburton. If customers knew they were phoning Haliburton, they may be tempted to think Spectra was too small to make a good product. Obviously, the argument goes, if the company was successful, it would be based in the Toronto area.

Why isn't it? Haliburton offers a lifestyle which most people in Toronto simply can't afford. Where else can you find cross country skiing and snowmobile trails within minutes of home, and not have to cope with traffic congestion and the stresses of urban life? Who in Toronto can afford a view of Lake Ontario? Cottagers are willing to spend three hours on a Friday night battling traffic just so they can enjoy two days of Highlands life. Highlanders may make the same trip to Toronto to enjoy its medical facilities and cultural or sporting events, but they are often only too happy to make that return trip home.

All too often, it's the small businesses which could teach the larger ones a thing or two about customer satisfaction, quality control, managed growth. The small businesses may not be run by people in business suits, but they probably have a much better understanding of what makes a business truly work. This doesn't mean companies shouldn't seek out opportunities for growth. But growth - becoming bigger - shouldn't be the main yardstick for success. Who knows what you'd really be measuring?

Music festival fosters talent

To the Editor:

We would like to thank everyone associated with the recent Haliburton Highlands Music Festival. We realize the amount of work and community support required to put on such an event.

We enjoyed practising and rehearsing for our performances and in fact it was the first time we played together as a family, which may not have happened had it not been for the Festival.

We'd like to mention the positive and very supportive comments given by both adjudicators and the enthusiasm of all participants and volunteers. This will help motivate participants in their ongoing musical studies. The talent that is showcased at this festival is tremendous and is further developed and supported by the community during this event.

In closing we would like to thank the Haliburton Echo as principal supporter and all the other supporters who made this possible. Congratulations on a job well done. We hope to be back again next year.

Grim statistics on shooting deaths speak for themselves

To the Editor:

The following is a verbatim report from the American College of Physicians on "Death Rate from Firearms". The data has also been endorsed by our Canadian Medical Association. Rather than inject a personal note, I feel that this medical update from such a prestigious body represents a powerful answer to the rather sick mantra of the National Rifle Association, "Guns don't kill - People do". The logical answer to that, I suppose, is "keep the guns - get rid of the people."

Quote: "The rate of death by firearms in the USA has risen at an appalling rate, from 23,000 in 1968 to 39,000 in 1994. They accounted for 1,500 accidental deaths, 18,000 homicides and 19,000 suicides at that date. In two large communities, 58% of all suicides used firearms; 17% occurred at home. Firearms kill more teenagers than the total of all other causes. Firearms in the home are far more dangerous to the occupant than to an intruder. After controlling other factors, the odds of suicide were found to be 4.8 times greater in homes with guns present than in gun-free residences. The odds of homicide increase by 2.7 times in gun-owning homes."

No other comment is required. I rest my case.

Absolutely

To the Editor:

If I had a dollar for every "Absolutely" I hear in a day, I could invest in RRSPs, and they'd compound quite nicely!

It used to be during the 70s everyone would say, "For Sure," but now that us boomers are getting older, and more sophisticated (or so we'd like to think), it's become vogue to say, "Absolutely" to everything.

Can one word drive a person crazy! Absolutely!

High school reforms take effect next fall

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN ONTARIO, students will be able to plan a high school program that meets their specific goals, strengths and interests. We have set up consistent province-wide standards to ensure that students have the skills they need to succeed in university, college, apprenticeship programs or the workplace. Whether you go to high school in Tory Hill or Toronto, everyone will have the same opportunity to benefit from this new high school program.

Under the new curriculum announced by Minister of Education, Dave Johnston, students will participate in more rigorous courses that place more emphasis on math, language, and science. The new curriculum includes civics, mandatory community involvement, as well as more opportunities for workplace preparation.

In order to meet the challenge of these new rigorous standards, we are committed to ensuring that students receive the help and support they need in order to succeed and excel.

By injecting an additional $150-million over the next two years for textbooks, teacher training and professional resources we are confident that students will have all the help they need in 'stepping-up' to meet the challenge. By working together with school boards, teachers and parents, we have devised a plan that will guarantee a smooth transition to the new system.

The strength of the new, streamed approach to education comes from the better courses offered and the flexibility given to students.

Starting in Grade 7, students will now prepare an annual education plan to help them make informed decisions about the course that will work best for them. Starting this fall, students in Grades 7 - 9 will also have a personal teacher-advisor who will monitor their academic progress and help them to achieve their future goals. The teacher-advisor will be a key school contact for parents, who will be able to obtain an overview of their child's progress, and discuss the next steps in their education.

chris

After having been prepared in elementary school, and enrolled in high school, students will be able to choose courses that are suited to their strengths, interests and goals. The new, flexible streaming of courses will keep as many options as possible open for students in the earlier grades and will prepare students in the senior grades for their future destinations.

Students won't be locked into a stream. Those students who are successful in any academic or applied course in Grade 9 will have acquired the core knowledge to proceed in either type in Grade 10. Students who plan to switch from one course type to the other will be strongly encouraged to complete additional course work in order to ensure that they have increased opportunity to succeed in the Grade 10 course of their choice.

By investing an additional $11-million for Learning/Teaching programs for students who need extra help, and for summer school programs to assist Grade 8 students in making the transition to high school, we are confident that students will thrive in this new environment.

In collaboration with key partners, such as teachers, principals, supervisory officials and trustees, we have a plan that will ensure that secondary teachers also receive the support they need in delivering the curriculum over the next four years.

To ensure that teachers across Ontario are trained effectively and consistently in order to implement the new standards, we invested $35-million to establish a training-based program that will continue throughout the four years of implementation of the new program.

District Steering Committees, representative of each school board, will provide training to school teams and establish networks between the school and the community. These 800 school teams (one per high school) will then deliver training to individual teachers in their school.

In addition to this, the Ministry of Education will invite teachers to Summer Institutes to give them an opportunity to get extra training on each subject and share best practices.

With an additional investment of $60-million for new Grade 9 and 10 textbooks, and $10-million to support the implementation of new report cards, we have further committed our role in ensuring the success of the new curriculum. We are confident that teachers will have the tools necessary to offer the support needed, so that all students under their care will be able to make informed decisions to lead them closer to achieving their goals.

pic of the past

NO ONE BELIEVES Corrine Hutchings when she says her grandfather, the late Gordon Neville, had a three-legged pig, so she brought in this photo as proof. Her grandfather is shown holding the pig, which was born without one of his hind legs. He raised it at his Parish Line farm until it could no longer support its weight on three legs and then butchered it. Our thanks to Corrine Hutchings for sharing a photo of such a rare sight.

Extra funding assists health care

CANADA'S PUBLICLY funded health care system is a pillar of our society and reflects the values shared by all of us. Preserving and building on our health care system's strengths is the cornerstone of the 1999 Federal Budget. Over the next five years, the provinces and territories will receive an additional $11.5-billion for health care. From this increase, Ontario will receive an additional $4.4-billion from the federal government's massive investment in health care. This investment encourages the Ontario government to make fundamental improvements to Ontario's health care system. This represents the largest single new investment the federal government has ever made.

This new money will help the provinces and territories deal with Canadians' immediate concerns about health care - waiting lists, crowded emergency rooms and diagnostic services. The federal government is committed to building a stronger health care system that reflects the changing needs of Canadians and provides timely access to high quality health care.

Of the $11.5-billion dedicated to health care, $8-billion will be provided through future increases in the Canada Health and Social Transfer (CHST). Over the next three years, provinces will receive $6.5-billion. For this fiscal year, $3.5-billion will be allocated as an immediate one-time cash injection to the CHST. Provinces and

The Federal Budget also invests close to $1.4-billion in improving information systems, promoting health-related research and innovation and preventing health problems. This will ensure that doctors, nurses, administrators and researchers have the most up-to-date knowledge, information, treatments and cures at their fingertips. It will also allow them to innovate and learn from each other to the benefit of all Canadians.

Health research helps prevent a wide range of diseases - from polio to tuberculosis. A national task force representing the health research community has developed an innovative proposal to create the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR). The institutes would bring together the best researchers from across Canada in areas such as aging, arthritis, women's health, cancer and heart disease. The 1999 budget sets aside $240-million over the next two years to support this proposal. While we lay the groundwork for the CIHR, increased funding will go to existing federal agencies that support health research, and to hospitals and universities to help create world-class research facilities.

territories will be able to draw on these funds in the manner which best suits the needs of their health care systems.

The $2.5-billion increase to CHST brings the total cash portion to $15-billion making the health component of the CHST as high as it was before the spending restraint of the mid-1990s. Combined with CHST tax transfers, federal support is expected to reach a new high by 2001-2002.

"He's the hardest working person I've ever met," says the worker, watching while the shop and his current livelihood burned to the ground. "He's

"Andy will come back but right now he probably doesn't see a tomorrow."

It was Schollig who discovered the fire when, after working in the morning, he had left the shop and upon returning, couldn't open the door. He called the Minden fire department at 11:20 in the morning.

Minden responded with 13 men. With no ready access to water - the closest river was a couple of kilometres away - the Dysart fire department was called in to help. Dysart responded with eight men, plus two water tankers.

The cause of the fire, nor the cost of the damage, are not yet known.

Novice B Huskies down by two to strong Mariposa

ELAINE SCHMID

Novice B Huskies

The Haliburton Hockey Haven/ReMax Novice B Huskies opened their final playoff round against the Mariposa Lightning in Oakwood on Thursday evening. The Huskies were up against some stiff competition, but managed to play a strong, clean game.

Nathan "Cujo" Woodcock continues to give his all in net turning out another strong performance. The Blue and White wall of defense, Daniel Sisson, Robert Lowes, J. L. Frybort and Lane Schmid, were working effectively to clear the puck to the opponent's end. Forwards, Jesse Stoughton, Cole Scheffee, Nelson Evans, Mac Trueman, Steven Miscio and Scott Griffith, found opportunities to aim and shoot, with some nice passing plays, but were unable to get enough markers for a win.

The first period was scoreless until the 2:53 mark, when the Lightning struck to take a one-goal lead. Jesse Stoughton evened the score on a play assisted by Scott Griffith and Nelson Evans.

In the third, Mariposa popped in two quick goals. With 1:51 left on the clock, Nelson Evans took a pass from Jesse Stoughton and found his mark. Final score: 3 - 2.

This game could have gone either way, as the Huskies had some tough breaks, which enabled the opposition to take a one-game lead in the series.

Sunday, March 14 in Haliburton, Mariposa came on strong as they opened the scoring in the first. The Huskies answered back on a nice play from Nelson Evans to Jesse Stoughton just seconds into the second.

"Cujo" Woodcock made several nice stops in net. The Huskies worked hard, but couldn't keep the Lightning from striking twice more in the second. Jesse Stoughton notched up a nice goal on an assist from J. L. Frybort and in the third Jesse got number three on a pass from Mac Trueman to tie the game 3 - 3.

Mariposa's number four (remember this number, boys) came back all alone on three breakaways to take the lead and win the game 6 - 3.

Mariposa now leads the series with two wins. The Husky Novice B is a team of boys, aged 7, 8 and 9, who have challenged and won against 9- and 10-year-old kids. They were the first-placed team by three points after the preliminary round. They give their all and provide excellent entertainment.

Next game, Tuesday evening in Haliburton at 7 p.m. Come on out and 'Root, Root, Root for the home team!'

Intended for last week: Semi-finals are now over for the ReMax/Hockey Haven Novice B Huskies, who have a pretty impressive record thus far with one loss, one tie, and four wins. They will not take on the Mariposa Lightning for the championship in this division.

The boys were "hot" this past week, travelling first to Minden on Wednesday evening. In the first nine minutes of play, the Huskies were all over their opponents, but did not manage to net one until the 1:01 mark. Nathan "Cujo" Woodcock stood on guard in the Husky net, with agility and flare as he turned away any Minden opportunities.

The Husky defence was mighty awesome as well, with Lane Schmid, Daniel Sisson and J. L. Frybort working their magic to keep the puck out of their end and into Minden's zone to create scoring opportunities for the powerful Husky forwards Jesse Stoughton, Mac Trueman, Nelson Evans, Scott Griffith, Steven Miscio, and Cole Scheffee.

The final score was 9 - 2 with points going to Jesse Stoughton with three, Mac Trueman, three, Nelson Evans, two, Cole Scheffee, three, Steven Miscio, four, J. L. Frybort, one, Daniel Sisson, one, and Lane Schmid, one.

These numbers are from the game sheet, but we all know that numbers do not necessarily indicate the talent and hard work of all of the boys on the team. Therefore, in my opinion, all of these boys deserve top honours for giving their all. Congratulations, boys!

On Friday evening, the Hockey Haven/ReMax Novice B Huskies became the Mariposa Lightning's worst nightmare as they stood strong to defend the home net. Again Nathan "Cujo" Woodcock turned out a stellar performance in goal with a 3 - 2 victory for the Huskies.

This game was nail-biting exciting (from a mom's point of view anyway).

Defensively, the Huskies' Daniel Sisson, Lane Schmid, J. L. Frybort, and Robert Lowes were determined to shut down the opponents with a vengeance, as they helped "Cujo" in defense of the Husky end. The Lightning had clearly come to win, as they played a very strong game.

Game points go to Jesse Stoughton, three, Mac Trueman, one, Scott Griffith, one, Daniel Sisson, one and Cole Scheffee, one. Again this bears repeating - all of the boys deserve recognition for their outstanding performance.

A star on ice

Young figures skaters dream of being able to soar through the air doing amazing jumps and gliding across the ice with grace – skills former Canadian pairs champion Paul Martini has perfected. Martini, who along with his partner Barbara Underhill delighted Canadians for years, spent Wednesday morning with the Haliburton Figure Skating Club, giving the skaters pointers on how to make their dreams happen on real ice. While the skaters listened attentively, their parents, who remember the awe Martini inspired, were busy taking his picture, below.

A COLD DAY ON THE ICE:

Although his lake trout was only a pound, Helder Foria, above, was still able to go home $1,000 richer as the winner of the recent Red Umbrella Fish Derby. At right, Nick Kulas gives the wind as small a target as possible by lying on the ice while his family takes refuge behind their hut and homemade ice walls.

Big fish seem to be hibernating during frigid ice-fishing derby

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

As the wind raced along 12 Mile Lake, bringing what seemed like Arctic air with it, the fishermen huddled together for the annual Red Umbrella fish derby must have thought that the only thing they'd catch that day was a cold.

Sure enough, the fish seemed to be hibernating on this chilly March Saturday and the largest fish caught was only one pound.

One pound or five, however, the catch was still the biggest of the day, earning Helder Foria of Oshawa the $1,000 first prize.

Jonas Usackas was not far behind with a nine-ounce trout and Terry Rosamond's third-place catch was six ounces.

The fourth through fifteenth place winners all took home $40 each.

The early bird door prize, a trolling motor, was won by Ivan Hall of Minden. The top three other prizes went to Brian Walton, Wallace Wood and John Curran, with 12 other prizes also awarded.

THE SPIRIT OF THE GAME:

On Friday night, the youth curling program at the Haliburton Curling Club wrapped up with a fun parent/child game and the announcement of who the young curlers had chosen for the club's Most Sportsmanlike trophy. Bill Hare, at right, who presented the trophy on behalf of the club, said that 14 curlers had received at least one vote but it was Reuben Maughan who garnered the greatest appreciation of his peers.

Hit the trails before season melts away

cross-country skiing nordic notes
blake paton

Winter is now getting long in the tooth and the skiing is close to being finished for the season. For some, the motivation may start to dissipate, but there are plenty of reasons to ski before the snow is washed away.

Although local skiers can ski well into April in most seasons, the end usually comes quickly, so make a plan to enjoy the last of the white stuff. Now is the time to head out on trails you don't normally ski.

Organize an expedition with friends, and plan to have a snack on the trails now that the weather has warmed up. Why limit it to a snack? Have a meal! Toast the end of a fine season.

It is important to remember that the hot sun warms the snow temperature up quickly at this time of year, so plan your shorter outings for an appropriate time of day. Often the changing snow conditions around midday can wreak havoc with a good grip wax job. Early morning and late afternoon outings are now warmer and prettier than ever.

This is a great time of year to dust off waxless skis or to concentrate on the skating stride because having the appropriate wax is less important. If the snow stays fresh, then treasure these last few opportunities to enjoy the fresh snow on well-made tracks. It's a feeling you will not be able to enjoy for quite some time.

It is also time to congratulate all the local participants in the Keskinanda Loppet in Ottawa in late February. The Haliburton Ski Club was well-represented there as Ainsley and Carrie Heyes finished first and second in their category in the 25km freestyle event. Congratulations also to the Pizzeys who finished their first 25km event this year.

This is also a great time to think about becoming more involved in the Haliburton Ski Club. Much important volunteer work happens throughout the summer months, so consider being a part of it. Pitch in to make sure that the club continues to play a strong and vital role in the community. Call 754-2351 to add your name to the volunteer list.

Finally, keep active during April so that your winter fitness can serve you well into the dreaded warm months of summer. Console yourself with the knowledge that a new winter is just a little more than six months away.

Rockets gain ground on Atom B Huskies with two wins

On March 10, the Roberts-Austin/Hockey Haven Atom B Huskies resumed their Tri-County championship quest when they hosted Wilberforce. The Rockets jumped out to a quick 2 to 0 lead but Haliburton kept their composure and clawed their way back. Midway through the opener, Dylan Metcalfe got the Huskies on the board from Jeff Burk. Halfway through the second, Wilberforce coughed up the puck and Dylan made them pay scoring a short-handed, unassisted goal to tie it up.

Thirty-one seconds later the Rockets went up 3 to 2 on a power play goal. That's the way it stayed until late in the game when Wilberforce iced the 4 to 2 win to take a 2 to 1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

On March 13, the Huskies travelled to Wilberforce to resume the struggle. Once again the Rockets jumped out to an early 2 to 0 lead but Haliburton refused to give up. Adam Trueman was stellar in goal and this sent a spark through the Huskies team. With one second left in the second, Dylan scored from Jamie Timbers to start the comeback. Early in the third, Connor MacMillan jammed one in from Dylan and Kevin Crofts to tie the game 2 to 2. That's the way this one would end.

Since there is no overtime in this series, each team was awarded a point each. The series now becomes an eight-point series which means the first team to earn eight points wins.

On March 14, the Huskies hosted the Rockets in game #5. Neither team would give each other an inch. Since the final score was 0 to 0 I guess it's safe to say it was a goaltender's battle.

Adam Trueman picked up his twelfth shutout of the season, but he had to play at peak performance because we brought up his younger brother, Mac, from the Novice Bs and he played fantastic for us. Great work.

So now, Wilberforce leads the series 6 points to 4. Both teams will take a rest for March Break. The next series game is scheduled for March 24 at 6:30 p.m. in Wilberforce.

Just to keep in shape over the break, the Huskies are in a tournament Saturday. You'll never guess where - that's right, Wilberforce, of course.

Tight win decides Monmouth business bonspiel

It was one of the closest finishes in the history of the Monmouth Curling Club's annual Business Bonspiel, but when they got down to the fine tuning, overall total score on all ends curled, skip Gary Stoughton and his Ontario Hardwood Veneer crew of vice Debbie Woodcock, second Eric Saunders and lead Allan Ablett squeaked to a win and presentation of the spiel trophy, donated by Don and Ann Meharrie of Don and Ann's Place.

Second spot honours in the two-day spiel went to E & M Bookkeeping's rink skipped by Ed Morais, with Jim Pollard at vice, Tom Robinson, second, and Wilf Lepage leading off.

Skip George Waugh and his Waugh Construction crew, vice John Waugh, second Al Jeans, and lead Rob Alden, had to settle for third place in the 14-rink field. Other businesses participating in this year's spiel were Bank of Nova Scotia, Triple Q & Son, Bostonian Motel, Chisholm Construction, Agnew's General Store, Wilberforce IGA, M & S Masonry, M. R. Walsh Sand & Gravel, Don and Ann's Place and two teams from Lonelm.

We make a living by what we get;

Representing Haliburton Highlands Secondary School for its first foray into the exciting world of the Sears Drama Festival are the cast and crew of This is a Play: back row: assistant stage manager Jocelyn Eastmure and Stage Manager Ann Raback; front row: actors Devon Dart, who won an individual Award of Excellence, Kate Campbell, Amanda McClenaghan and Jenn Orpana. Their enthusiastic embrace of the festival's aspirations earned the troupe a special award.

This is a winning troupe

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

AS FAR AS FIRST impressions go, a group of young thespians have proven they don't need to wait until the second act to spread the good name of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

At the recent regional competition of the Sears Drama Festival, HHSS's cast and crew was presented with the Don McFayden award for "encapsulating the proper spirit of the festival."

Although the award is quite an honour under any circumstance, the fact that this was the first time the high school had competed in the festival made it all the more special.

Even better, first-time actor Devon Dart was given the Award of Excellence in Acting.

All in all, it was an exhilarating experience for the teenagers, whose newfound enthusiasm for festival competition has them hoping to host the event once their new stage is completed.

"It was an amazing experience," says assistant stage manager Jocelyn Eastmure.

The Sears Drama Festival, which was started by retired Minden resident Ken Watts, has been offering students a wider audience for more than 50 years. It was the arrival of HHSS's new drama and English teacher, Darrell Dobson, last September which precipitated the high school's delayed foray into the festival's invigorating atmosphere.

Dobson, a Saskatchewan native, had taken part in various festivals as a student and then as a teacher in Alberta "and I wanted to start that tradition here."

"Festivals help kids develop a 'drama community' and gives them the opportunity to see how good other schools are and how good theatre can be. They need that exposure to see what else is going on."

The cast and crew of the HHSS production, This Is A Play, couldn't agree more. More than a week after their March 2 performance in Bradford, competing against schools from such areas as Barrie and Gravenhurst, they were still riding a wave of energy and enthusiasm.

Nervous when they first arrived at the Bradford high school, they soon revelled in the type of spirit which is generated when you get dozens of teenaged drama lovers together.

Devon, who until recently had kept his competitive activities to the sports field, says that although the festival is a competition to see which school will advance to the next level, there was a much deeper sense of camaraderie than he expected.

"It was a lot less competitive than sports, not that you can't build friendships in sports, but not with the other team's members," he smiles.

He also found that he loved being on the stage. "I enjoyed what I was doing and wanted to perform," he says. "I took the energy of my fun role and made myself act."

The adjudicator praised all the actors in the HHSS production - Kate Campbell, Amanda McClenaghan and Jenn Orpana - and singled Devon out for his charismatic and "spunky" performance.

High praise indeed for a cast which, due to the teachers' contract dispute, had only four weeks to rehearse, and did so in the distractingly red-floored aerobics room at the high school. (The other participant of the troupe, Ann Raback, was the stage manager.)

With no stage to rehearse on - the school's former stage area is being transformed into the Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion - there was also no chance to work on lighting and sound until the festival's dress rehearsal. Luckily, their set consisted of a bench only.

It also took the students some time to catch the rhythm of the play, which is actually a play within a play. The actors play actors, who when not delivering their lines, are speaking their minds - out loud. The student actors had to learn how to use varying voice tones and gestures to convey when they were acting as actors on stage and when they were actors acting as actors as people. Got it?

Local audiences will get the chance to see what impressed the adjudicator and other schools some time in April or early May, when the group will perform their play in the school's new gym. A date will be announced when it

A new beginning at St. Anthony's

■ Catholic church welcomes new priest to the fold

MARTHA PERKINS

Editor

AS A NEWCOMER to the Highlands, one of John Burchat's first goals is to get to know the people in the community.

As a Catholic priest, however, he says there is, and always will be, only one real purpose for becoming part of the Haliburton parish of St. Anthony's.

"My main reason for being here is the celebration of the Eucharist, every week on the day of the Lord. That's it," he said in an interview just before his second mass (to a full church) as the new priest of St. Anthony's.

Why is that the main reason? He pauses, not so that he has time to think of an answer, but to make sure that his answer encapsulates decades of faith and learning.

"The Eucharist sets the priority in our lives. (It means) Jesus is present in our lives."

That presence is one he embraces and cherishes. "We need the healing, we need the strength and we need the direction" that Jesus provides, he says.

Although it was a sad occasion which brought Father Burchat to Haliburton following the death last month of 45-year-old Father David Kelly, it is with enthusiasm that he takes on his new role.

"Each priest has something unique to offer. I hope I can serve the people as well as Father Kelly did."

One of his main interests is in teaching, a love he comes by honestly. His mother is a retired teacher and his sister is also a teacher. (His father is retired from the OPP. The Burchats live on the Bonnechere River, in the region called Tramore between Round Lake and Golden Lake in the Ottawa Valley.)

"I'm not the world's greatest orator, but I do have an ability to teach and get across an idea," he said Saturday afternoon. He enjoys studying and reading, and then passing along what he has learned. "I would say I have a passion for the truth, in the sense of how truth is something that's very creative - it's the element of discovery."

"As a priest, when you begin to look at our spiritual growth, the human journey includes an element of discovery. Ultimately, the discovery of the Christian truth is a fuller discovery of what life is about - who I am, in a fuller sense of my humanity, a real discovery of who I am in relationship to God."

"My main reason for being here is the celebration of the Eucharist, every week on the day of the Lord. That's it," says Father John Burchat, the new priest at St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church in Haliburton. "The Eucharist sets the priority in our lives. (It means) Jesus is present in our lives."

"When you discover that, in the relationship you also discover a whole new potential to life, and the depth of that life."

He intends to help teach people how to grow in that relationship, not just by example, but "by a kind of preaching which draws people forth from where they're coming from."

To do that, he's going to have to spend time understanding the people in his church family, what their lives are like and what their aspirations are. These friendships will evolve as he spends more time with them - at weddings, funerals and the religious occasions in their lives

- as well as at their homes. (He smiles when saying he'll accept any invitation that includes food.)

However, he still faces the challenges of being a priest with responsibilities at two churches - St. Anthony's in Haliburton and St. Ignatius in Maynooth.

The commute between the two communities is not worrisome for Father Burchat, who as a youngster attending school in Killaloe and Barry's Bay, often had to spend 45 minutes to an hour to get there.

His youth also exposed him to a wide variety of interests and tasks, from churning butter for his mother and hauling wood for his father, to hunting and target shooting, curling, watching sci-fi movies and reading historical fiction.

His work experience has included saw mill operation, construction, maintenance and being a counsellor for delinquent youth.

Only 33 years old, he earned a Bachelor of Arts in philosophy from King's College at the University of Western Ontario in 1988 and a Master of Divinity in 1992. In 1992, he was ordained to the Diaconate of Our Lady of Fatima (Renfrew) at the end of his year of pastoral internship. After being ordained to the priesthood in Round Lake in 1993, he was assistant at St. John Chrysostom in Arnprior for four years and St. Francis Xavier in Renfrew for two years.

Request for doctor top-up funds turned down

PETER DOWNS

Staff Reporter

The following are brief reports of items discussed at last Wednesday's meeting of Stanhope council.

Stanhope councillors rejected a request from the county's health services board to help pay top-up fees for doctors working at Minden hospital.

Councillors argued the county, not individual municipalities, should decide whether to help the hospital cover its expenses.

Because of the ongoing doctor shortage in Minden, the Haliburton Highlands Health Services board has been forced to pay out-of-town doctors from Peterborough, Lindsay and Orillia to staff the village's hospital emergency room.

The board has guaranteed the doctors $70 per hour while they're on shift. When the doctors see enough patients to bill OHIP for more than the $70 per hour fee, the health board is off the hook. But when their OHIP billing is lower, the board has to top up their wages.

Top-up fees are the main reason the board has found itself in a deficit position.

To help absorb the costs, the board has written to municipalities whose residents use the hospital requesting financial assistance.

But Stanhope's reeve maintained the board would do better to approach county council for funding.

"This should be a decision made at the county level," said Eleanor Harrison. "To me they're putting municipalities almost in a competitive (situation). Municipality

A is going to donate this much, how much are you going to donate?"

Deputy-reeve Murray Daniels said he agrees with Harrison "wholeheartedly."

Councillor Tom Gardner said the provincial government should be providing the board with additional funding, considering its own health services restructuring commission indicated last year the health board is underfunded.

"I understand their dilemma, but I think the money should come from the province," he said.

Fire truck disagreement

Stanhope's reeve and two councillors want the fire department to take one of its aging emergency vehicles off the road immediately.

But the municipality's fire chief, John Hogg, says the 25-year-old van needs only minor repairs to be road-worthy. He produced a written estimate from a mechanic who said the vehicle would need between $300 and $400 in repairs to pass a certification test.

Hogg acknowledged the van should likely be replaced as early as this summer, but said it serves an important role and should stay on the road until then.

The four-wheel drive van is used as a first-response vehicle, primarily carrying equipment to emergency scenes. It also carries two firefighters.

However, reeve Harrison, deputy-reeve Daniels and councillor Ann Barker have said there was an agreement between council and the fire department that the vehicle would come off the road when the fire department purchased a new truck last year.

Hogg, who was deputy chief of the fire department at that time, said he and the previous fire chief have no recollection of such an agreement.

Harrison told Hogg she was surprised that the fire department would be asking the municipality to consider making a "major expenditure" on another new emergency vehicle so soon after last year's purchase of a truck.

She said it wouldn't be wise for the municipality to buy any additional vehicles while it is in the midst of amalgamation talks with neighbouring Sherborne.

Councillors Jim Hicks and Tom Gardner recommended spending the money needed to keep the fire van on the road, at least for the short term.

But Harrison deferred a vote on the issue because councillor Barker, a member of the municipality's fire committee, was absent from the meeting.

■ Access Centre makes sure people get the care they need, when and where they need it

PETER DOWNS

Staff Reporter

Whether they live in Dorset, Lindsay or Port Hope, those seeking in-home nursing care or information about other health and social services will have their phone calls directed to a small office just outside Haliburton.

The agency that handles such requests for three neighbouring counties — the Haliburton, Northumberland, Victoria Access Centre — has set up a centralized call centre at its Haliburton office.

Staff at the 24-hour call centre respond to callers in the three counties who use the Access Centre's new toll-free phone number.

Not only does the new function expand the office's role, but also it's created much-needed, permanent jobs.

"I was very, very pleased with the decision of the Access Centre to choose Haliburton County to do this. It allowed us to hire more people, which is good for Haliburton County, and it gives the office a focus," said Donna MacAlpine, branch director.

Two full-time and four part-time Registered Nurses work at the call centre as case managers, along with two full-time and two part-time secretaries. All of them but one are new employees hired when the centre went into operation in mid-December.

During peak times, there are six staff managing phone calls and referrals from other sources.

After assessing clients' needs, caseworkers arrange for them to receive the care they need. Often that means arranging for a VON nurse to visit the client in their home or for a Red Cross homemaker to provide support. A senior who has difficulty leaving their home may also need the Access Centre arrange for medical lab staff to make a home visit to do blood work.

Staff at the centre can also arrange for clients to see social workers, dietitians, physiotherapists, speech therapists and other health care professionals.

Access Centres were introduced by the province a couple of years ago to replace homecare programs.

The name change better reflects the many services offered through the centres, in addition to in-home nursing care, said MacAlpine.

When the Haliburton County Information Centre was closed, the Access Centre also took over many of its responsibilities.

"We provide information on health and social services not just in Haliburton County, but in all three counties," said MacAlpine.

The Access Centre's Haliburton office is located on Hwy. 118 just outside the village in a building it shares with the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

The new toll-free number callers in the three counties can use to reach the Haliburton call centre is 1-877-468-5544. There's also a toll-free fax number, 1-800-303-8340.

Callers in the Highlands can reach the office by dialing 457-1600.

Deer need dog owners' help to make it through end of winter safely

The Ministry of Natural Resources would like to stress to dog owners the importance of maintaining control of their pets. It is against the law to let dogs run free in rural areas inhabited by deer, and dog owners, whether local residents or visitors, must take responsibility for their animals.

Snow and cold weather restrict deer movements and, in general, make winter a demanding time of year for deer. They do not need the added stress of being chased by someone's household pet.

Domestic dogs, left to roam free, often travel in groups and take this opportunity to participate in the thrill of a deer chase, which often results in the death of the deer through injury or exhaustion.

During the next couple of months, the deer are most vulnerable to harassment. As well as receiving leg injuries from crusting snow conditions, a prolonged chase results in high energy consumption for deer already under the stress of winter. This can result in the death of the deer even without being attacked. The females are extremely sensitive to unnecessary exertion and the added stress of pursuit can lead to aborted fawns.

During this critical period for deer, the Ministry of Natural Resources asks the cooperation of all dog owners in protecting the deer herds by not allowing their pets to roam unattended. Owners of dogs found chasing deer or running at large during the closed season for deer can face charges under the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act.

Overall responsibility for controlling dogs at large and impounding roaming dogs rests with the local townships under the Municipal Act. However, the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act empowers Conservation Officers to act where dogs are harassing wildlife such as deer.

Why is it important to control dogs?

A dog has instincts which may remain hidden to its owner in everyday life. When the dog is let loose in the outdoors, it may act like a wild animal, regardless of its size and breed, or its usual behaviour around home.

If a deer is chased by a dog, the deer can die even if the dog does not catch it. The deer could die some hours later from stress.

A deer being chased by dogs can run across a road and cause a traffic accident.

What can happen if I don't control my dog?

In Ontario, dog owners must control their dogs at all times. This means that the animal must be either on a leash, tied up, or in an enclosure.

The Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act states that it is illegal to let a dog run at large during the closed season, in an area inhabited by deer. A dog seen chasing deer may be shot on sight by a Conservation Officer, without any penalty for the officer.

Give a wildlife a break! Please keep your dog tied up.

Farewell celebration closes popular venue for local artists

■ Wild Oats
Cafe owners move on to other ventures

SHERRIE HAWKINS
Special to The Echo

"A toast to you for creating such a wonderful home for art lovers, coffee aficionados, young and old, singers and listeners, loungers and readers such a delightful place to respite to mix and mingle."

Those words enclosed in a hand-made greeting, reflect so eloquently the feelings of more than 60 people gathered at the Wild Oats Cafe, Saturday, to bid a final farewell - farewell to their hosts, friends and what's described as a "local musical era".

Since opening the Haliburton cafe in 1997, Rhonda Maguire and "Bongo" Barry Hayward have provided a respectful and encouraging venue for musicians, poets and artists.

"It all began with kitchen concerts," Maguire says in retrospect. "Now I would call it a community development project," describing the open stage success. Many alliances and friendships have been nurtured in this harmonic environment, a fragile commodity in these times. Unfortunately, it is time for Maguire and Hayward to pursue other ventures drawing from their experiences here.

The farewell celebration began with a potluck supper, which could be described as a "chewing and chatting" session.

Hayward and Kris Kadwell, guitarist extraordinaire, opened the musical portion of the evening.

Some notable guests were John Foreman and Nick Smithson, hosts of the famous "Wednesday Folk Night" in the Bancroft area.

Julie Schall offered an absolutely beautiful rendition of "History by the Indigo Girls", while Dave Fougiers' performance would make one swear John Prine was in the room.

Age is certainly not a consideration. Most teenagers expressed that, unlike in some establishments, they have always felt welcome here.

"Music is the soul of this place. It somehow attracted relaxed musicians," says Maguire. She does confess that she entertains eagerly the idea of "kitchen concerts" at her new home on Cranberry Lake.

Maguire will also be organizing the live entertainment for the future "Art in the Park" held at Head Lake Park.

Meanwhile Maguire and Hayward, content with memories of cafe days gone by, have been offered positions at SSFC and HCC Co-op.

They offer their thanks to the community for their support of talents and time. However, the musical and artistic community wishes to offer their thanks to them for opening the stage to those who may have never been heard and a special thanks from those who had the privilege to be there to witness it growing and changing into something wonderful in every way.

Women need tie-breaker to decide bonspiel

GORD WRIGHT

Haliburton Curling Club

The last game of the Four Town Ladies Bonspiel was held in Haliburton on March 10.

What a spiel! And what a crowd with standing room only at times with Chester Howse and his boys at one end of the gallery and Ab Norman with his boys at the other end, all whooping and hollering either encouragement or trying to give instruction how the shots should be played. Their competition was Eileen and I in the middle, rooting for our Fenelon Falls teams.

The day's skips were: from Minden, Katie Parker and Etta McCann; from Bobcaygeon, Sandra Keevil and Anne Hurd; from Fenelon Falls, Fern Bellwood and Lucille Pennington; representing Haliburton, Dianne Tigert and Fern Timbers.

The hot spot of the day was when Dianne Tigert tied with Etta McCann in the last end coming home. To break the tie it was necessary for each player to play one rock only toward the glass and what a tie-breaker - excitement to the last rock with a take-out and a roll-over was played and won by Dianne Tigert.

Winners were, with 25 points, skip Fern Bellwood, vice Marg McIsaac, second Ruth Kerrivan and lead Julie Patten. With 20.7 points, skip Dianne Tigert, vice Doreen Degrave, second Do Fraser, and lead Pat Norman (this must have been why Ab was so noisy). With 18.7 points, skip Fern Timbers, vice Joan Hooper, second Jean McBain, and lead Audrey Hewitt.

All the players thought the lunch was excellent and well prepared by the kitchen staff and dessert after the game seems to becoming popular for some reason. Maybe this is to sweeten you up for your journey home? Any other suggestions? Votes of thanks to the kitchen staff, to Chester for tending the bar, and to Ab Norman for being honest keeping score.

To all my readers, wherever you are, Minden, Haliburton, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Florida, Barbados, Tim Buck Two, or even Cameron, would you drop me a line in 1000 words or 20 to let me know how we could improve the Fenelon Falls Curling Club - people? building? dishwashers? accommodations?. I don't require signatures nor return addresses, just ideas, or mail them to Gord Wright, R. R. 3, Fenelon Falls, Ont. K0M 1N0. Thank you in advance!

CATCH OF THE DAY:

Major Tyke Huskies take series lead with dramatic OT win over Fenelon

SHERRY MULHOLLAND

Major Tyke Huskies

The Husky Major Tykes opened their best-of-three final series in Fenelon Falls on Sunday, March 14. The Falcons opened the scoring early in the first and held the score that way until the second period.

Jake Palmer deposited the rubber behind Fenelon's goalie early in the second, only to have the opposition answer back before the end of the period.

Fenelon opened the third with a shot to make it 3 - 1. Try as the opposition and their assistants might, they were not able to keep Haliburton down.

Once again in this arena, struggling to keep Fenelon's powerplay under control, Haliburton came back strong. Luke Watson, Brett Yavis, Craig Mulholland, Jordan Roberts, Steven Jacobs and Brady Yavis were all skating and checking hard. Each put up a great effort throughout the game, assisting in the win in many ways.

Daniel Sisson put Haliburton within one goal with less than four minutes to play. With the fans on their feet, Haliburton pulled the goalie for the extra attacker. The Huskies were all over Fenelon, controlling the puck in the opposing end. Jake Palmer passed it out front to Daniel Sisson who backhanded it over the goalie to tie the game with only seconds remaining.

The combination of Curtis Nichol in net, stopping many rushes, and the great defensive plays of Adam vanNood, Gavin Barker, Scott Griffith and Daniel Sisson kept the game close all through the three periods.

Every parent's nightmare - overtime. The Huskies were pumped and raring to go. Not giving Fenelon a chance to do any damage, Daniel Sisson took the puck with 1:47 gone in overtime, and dumped it under the goalie to take a one-game lead.

Haliburton now returns home for game two on Saturday, March 20 at 2 p.m.

Meeting will help groups identify funding sources

TAMARA WILBEE

County Office

At the February Strategic Plan Committee meeting (Hub), many members noted that they have been meeting for over a year, have developed solid structures within their committees and have learned a great deal, but in order to see their ideas come to light, they need money.

This plight is common through all organizations within the county and for this reason we have been working with Carolyn Bray of the Ontario

Healthy Communities Coalition and Kathy Simpson of OMAFRA (Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs) to co-ordinate a meeting at which staff members from various foundations and both levels of government have been invited to speak to the community about funding programs that they have available for 1999.

Martha Perkins reported on the February meeting in The Echo and since then we have had interest from about 10 organizations who are looking for funding to get them jump started or to fill in the gaps.

The meeting is open to the public and is an excellent opportunity to do some one-stop shopping for funding information. There is no guarantee that you will find funding that is perfectly tailored to match your criteria, but it certainly does not cost anything to ask and you may make some valuable contacts for the future.

The panel has not been finalized, but at this point we have received confirmation from The Trillium Foundation, Human Resource Development Canada, Ministry of Economic Development, Trade and Tourism, Ministry of Citizenship, Recreation and Culture, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture Food and Rural Affairs as well as speakers to address provincial and federal employment programs that might be of use to your group or organization.

The meeting will be at the county council chambers (11 Newcastle Street in Minden), April 8th, 1999 at 1:00 p.m. If you are interested in finding out more about this meeting or would like to attend, please call Tamara Wilbee at the County Office at 286-1333 or email: thecounty@haliburtonhighlands.com.

Family tree assignment not presenting problems for young kids: board official

PETER DOWNS

Staff Reporter

Unlike some other school boards, there have been no problems with young children at local schools being asked to research their family trees, says an official with the district board.

The Children's Aid Society raised concerns last week that the assignment — a requirement of Ontario's new school curriculum — is forcing some Grade 2 students to delve into unhappy family backgrounds, such as parental break-ups or deaths.

The Trillium Lakelands District School Board has received no complaints about the assignment from parents or teachers, said superintendent of schools Dale Robinson.

"Kids have been asked to do family trees, but we always try to leave them an out so if it is a problem, they can do another activity," he said.

Evening of gospel music brings congregations, community together

An enthusiastic crowd from various churches and the community in general, filled the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre for an evening of gospel music and food, last Saturday. After a "potluck" meal of sandwiches, soup and goodies, everyone enjoyed a joyful evening of music - vocal and instrumental. Thanks to Clara Burt and all the helpers for organizing the event.

Golfers can tee-off with hockey sticks at winter game

community news

Phyllis Briscoe
766-2237

We hope that everyone survived the Ides of March without any dire happenings. Today is good old St. Patrick's Day when everyone celebrates, whether Irish or not. A good excuse for a party.

There will be a workshop at the Dorset Rec. Centre on Thursday, March 25, on decorative clay tile making. Topper, of the E. T. Paint Lake Pottery, will be there, teaching how to make a decorative clay tile. The cost is $20, including clay for two tiles, and firing. Workshop begins at 6:30 p.m. Please register in advance as space is limited.

The Dorset Lions Club is presenting the Camp Dorset International Golf Tournament. Nine holes of gold on Deer

Lake and you may use golf clubs or hockey sticks. The date is Saturday, March 27, with a shotgun start at 11 a.m. The cost is $25 per golfer, which includes a steak dinner, prizes, trophies and sports bar atmosphere. Reservations are a must. R.S.V.P. by calling Esther, 766-2830, or Paul, 766-9971. Hot dogs and hamburgers available after 1 p.m. and dinner will be served at approximately 7 p.m. Overnight accommodations are available, but reserve early.

This is going to be a green afternoon at the Dorset Senior Club. Everything is green - fingernails, hair, clothing, for the 17th of March. Who knows - maybe green food. An afternoon of fun is anticipated.

The community is saddened by the death of Len Barry, who passed away at his home in Dorset, on Friday, March 12. Len was a charter member of the Dorset Lions Club and has been an active participant in that organization since its inception, having attended their regular meeting two days before his death. Len was a friend to everyone. He owned and operated the Dorset Garage and gas station. His father, Hiram Barry, had started the business in the early years of the 1900's and, incidentally, was the first person in Dorset to own an automobile.

Len was an outgoing, friendly individual and made many friends through his lifetime, from near and far. His family and mine were next door neighbours, grew up and went to school together, both being large families. Deepest sympathy is extended to his wife, Eileen, his children, Lee Payne and son, Mark Barry, his grandsons, Lance and Leonard Payne, and his sister, Marcella McKay. Len would have celebrated his 79th birthday in October. He will be sadly missed by many. There is a memorial service today at 2 p.m. in Knox United Church, Dorset.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Taylor Clark, Shirley Cowal, Audrey Clayton, Kaleigh Scheulze, Cody Ryan and Jason Leslie. Best wishes to all.

Officer elections set for May 6 general meeting

It was moved and passed at the March 4 general meeting that nominations and installation will take place in one evening, at the May 6 general meeting.

An important notice to all voting members: a new process for nominations and elections has been set. A member must be nominated for the position which they wish to run. For example, if a member is nominated for president and is not elected they will not automatically drop down to run for 1st vice. They would have to be nominated to that position.

A person could be nominated for all positions, as well as executive committee. A person being successfully elected will be dropped from any remaining office.

A person nominated must be present at the meeting or have signified in writing that he or she would be willing to stand for that office they were nominated for.

This is your Legion - changes cannot be made by being absent from meetings. Please plan to attend on May 6 and exercise your vote. Together we can make things happen.

The first flea market of this year was held on March 13.

The 50+ seniors will hold a St. Patrick's Day dinner and dance on March 18; members $5, non-members $7. Sign the sheet in

community news

the branch if you plan to attend.

A seminar will be held at the branch on March 21. Branch opens at 12 noon, meeting begins at 1 p.m. Zone Commander Don McCumber is guest speaker.

The executive meeting is March 25.

There will be a ham roll in the Club Room on March 27; lots of fun.

The Legion will be open on March 28 from 12 noon to 6 p.m. for the Nascar races.

The first meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary will be on March 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Schofield Room.

Sports are still in full swing. We would like to see more people out on Monday evening for euchre.

Congratulations to all young students who competed in the Legion Public Speaking - such a wide variety of subjects. They had certainly studied their topics - an entertaining afternoon.

Also, congratulations to the 1129 Cadets on their expertise at the rifle competition held in Peterborough. They placed second.

Every Saturday night there is entertainment in the Club Room. On March 20 - music by Evelyn; March 27 - Kidd Country; April 3 - Gary Peters; April 10 - Frank Fox; April 17 - Night Hawk; and April 24 - Willy and the Poor Boys. Treat yourselves to a Saturday night out.

On April 13, the popular Breath of Scotland will be back. More details later.

Several members attended the Zone Convention in Beaverton on Sunday, March 14.

Bernie Nicholls honoured by team

community news

west guilford

Eleanor Cooper
754-2388

Marge and George Nicholls were contacted by their son Bernie's team, the San José Sharks, to be booked for car and accommodation and flight to Bernie's retirement party, as an added surprise for the retiree, on March 6.

The excitement over the presentation was keen and included the silver hockey stick inscribed with Bernie's accomplishments. The event was taped, so will remain with the Nicholls family as a treasured gift. They can review, at any time, the speeches, including Bernie's response in which he thanked not only his team but his parents as well. Marge admits to a few tears already as she watches it!

Bernie and family were also given a trip to Arizona and includes access to golfing. Well done, hockey star!

March 6, 1999 was memorable for this community because of the celebration of Bert and Nila Cowen's 50th anniversary. The ball at the Centre was so beautifully decorated and the happy couple surrounded by their own special family, extended families and many friends who enjoyed the appearance of the place to the full. Guests signed the book as they entered and were welcomed, visiting with one another over the afternoon and appreciating the bountiful lunch and special anniversary cake made by Judy Carpenter.

Although Jim and David's family were present with children, Kendra and Bill were not able to make the trip from Florida. However, their gift was planned in the winter months when Bert and Nila were with them and given a Caribbean cruise in honour of the coming anniversary. Congratulations from all!

Two names were omitted from the volleyball news two weeks ago. Aleka Lilius played on the Midget team and Tanya Sisson on the Senior Girls' team. Judging from the pictures with the teams, they not only play well but enjoy it very much.

Activities spring ahead with fine weather

Our last few days have been quite busy, partly due to Mother Nature providing us with some wonderful sunny weather (dare we say it, quite spring-like). What a difference a few days make. Whereas activities were cancelled previously, our recent activities went along without a hitch.

Our tea party on March 4 was hosted by the Haliburton UCW. What a friendly group they were. We had quite a good crowd out and send our thanks for a lovely tea. The following morning a few of us attended our monthly diners club meeting.

Later that day we celebrated World Day of Prayer. This was sponsored by women from our local churches and we all gathered to pray for the women of Venezuela. It is at times like these that one realizes how fortunate we are.

Another quite weekend, with a few visitors calling. However, on Sunday afternoon, we thoroughly enjoyed the Voice of Truth singers from the Heritage Baptist College and

senior league

Roving Reporters

Seminary in Cambridge. These young people thrilled us with their beautiful voices. They were joined by a pianist and Pastor Dan Millard. We appreciated the time they spent with us and send our thanks to them.

Monday was a wonderful, sunny day. Our rescheduled trip took place and a full bus headed out for Brady Lake to the deer feeding station. It was our very first bus trip of the year and what a treat it was to drive around and enjoy the scenery. We were very pleased to watch the deer feed and thoroughly enjoyed our lunch on the bus. It made for a nice social time for us.

We made it back just in time to attend our monthly Resident Council meeting. Many things were discussed including our upcoming activities and also suggestions for other events. It was a good meeting and well attended.

The following morning, we attended chapel with Pastor Dan Millard. Later that day, the craft group met. We are told they are finishing up decorations for St. Patrick's Day and are busy working on items for Easter.

Wednesday afternoon a good number of us gathered to listen to Kim who gave a talk on nutrition. Very interesting subject. We really appreciate the time that Kim spends with us. Later on, in the evening, we enjoyed the company of the Norland Hillbillies at our pub night.

Speaking of St. Patrick's Day, we have a few activities planned for next week. On the Irish theme. We are looking forward to them, and tomorrow we have been invited to join in the retirement party for Carol Ann Schell who has retired.
